THE IMPACT OF INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE PROGRAMS

ENGAGING FUTURE LEADERS AROUND THE WORLD AND ADVANCING KEY U.S. FOREIGN POLICY PRIORITIES

Over 1 million international students studied at U.S. universities and colleges in 2018-2019. More than 300,000 exchange visitors come to the United States on privately funded programs each year to experience American culture and society. Programs funded by the U.S. Department of State provide over 55,000 participants the opportunity for an exchange each year. Over 347,099 Americans studied abroad for academic credit in 2018-2019, and 15,000+ travel abroad every year as exchange participants.

SUPPORT U.S. NATIONAL SECURITY

- Participants from more than 200 countries and territories visit the United States each year, many from countries critical to U.S. foreign policy, such as Brazil, China, India, Russia, Turkey, and Ukraine. (See map above for 2019 numbers)

- Notable exchange alumni include: 583 current or former heads of foreign governments, 84 Nobel Prize winners, 64 representatives to the United Nations, 31 heads of international organizations, 97 current or former members of the U.S. Congress.

STRENGTHEN THE U.S. ECONOMY

- International students contributed $41 billion to the U.S. economy and supported over 458,290 jobs during the 2018-2019 academic year.

- 90% of ECA’s appropriation is spent in the United States or invested directly in American citizens or American organizations.

- 70% of host organizations participate to bring a unique cultural dimension to the work place.

- Over 1.6 million hours of community service were completed by exchange participants and U.S. hosts.

INCREASE MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING

- 94% of exchange students from Muslim-majority countries reported having a deeper, favorable view of American culture after their year in the U.S.

- 90% of voters in a 2016 poll agreed that our nation needs an education system that produces educators, business leaders, and diplomats who understand other cultures and languages.

- A review of 29 reports on public diplomacy revealed that the most common recommendation was to increase funding for, and opportunities to engage in, exchange programs.
“Two decades later . . . I gained an even deeper appreciation for how people-to-people exchanges bring our world closer together and convey the best of America to the world, especially to its young people.”

– Secretary of State Antony Blinken
Remarks to U.S. State Department Employees, January 27, 2021

“The robust exchange of students, researchers, scholars, and educators, along with broader international education efforts between the United States and other countries, strengthens relationships between current and future leaders. These relationships are necessary to address shared challenges, enhance American prosperity, and contribute to global peace and security.”

“…our history is filled with examples of how America’s ability to attract global talent has spurred path-breaking innovation. This innovation has led to the creation of new jobs, new industries, and new opportunities for Americans across the United States. Our commitment as a nation to welcoming new talent has long provided America with a global competitive advantage, and we must continue to lead in this effort.”
